

East Hampton

"The East Hampton" is a 1925 65' Chesapeake Bay Deadrise Deck Boat that I purchased in 1998. Prior to my purchase, she spent 40 years in the fish trap industry and another 35 in crab dredging and flounder fishing. After burning and sanding decades of paint from her hull and deck house, her current appearance is that of a fairly new boat. Although I have restored the exterior to its original appearance, the interior has been upgraded with sleeping accommodations for eight, an updated head and gallery, new electronics, and a Coast Guard certified electrical system. Although the power train is not original, it is a fully functional and economical 1951 D13000 Caterpillar diesel.
